1. Our Commitment to Privacy

Intelligent Financial Markets Pty Ltd (trading as FBS Oceania, hereinafter referred to as 'the Company,' 'We' or 'Us') recognises that it is important for you to know how we deal with your personal information and for that reason, this statement outlines our current Privacy Policy. The Company abides by the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) established under the Privacy Amendment (Enhancing Privacy Protection) Act 2012 (Cth).

2. Collection of Information

The Company is required under various legislation and codes of practice to collect certain information about you in order to provide our range of services. These include, but are not limited to, the Corporations Act, Income Tax Assessment Act as well as certain regulations issued by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC). In addition, our ability to provide you with comprehensive and quality services is reliant on us obtaining certain personal information about you. The staff and representatives of the Company may request personal and sensitive information from you, which will generally comprise, but not be limited to, the following type of information:

- Personal details, e.g. name, address, contact details (phone, email), date of birth, marital status, dependents, employment details;
- Information you provide to verify your identity, e.g. passport, proof of address;
- Business details including ABNs;
- Financial details, e.g. assets, liabilities, income, expenses;
- Details of all investments, superannuation, investor numbers, credit card and bank account details;
- Information relating to the previous trading experience, personal goals and objectives;
- Information about your transactions in financial products;
- Taxation information, including your tax file number.

If you do not provide us with the information required, we may elect to terminate our relationship with you if we believe it will jeopardise our ability to provide you with a complete, accurate and comprehensive service. We will not collect any personal information about you except when you have knowingly provided that information to us or authorised a third party to provide that information to us. Information will be collected from a variety of sources, including directly from you, external organisations and our associated companies. We only collect, maintain and use personal and sensitive information about you if it is necessary for us to adequately provide the services requested.

Date: 02/04/2024

Approved by: FBS Oceania Board of Director

3. Use and Disclosure of Information

Any personal information about you collected by the Company will be used for the following purposes:

- Provision of investment services;
- Completion of associated documentation and application forms:
- To market services which may be supplied by the Company or by other suppliers that may be of interest to you, unless you inform us not to do so;
- To compile statistical analysis of the pages of the website you have visited;
- To participate in crime prevention, regulatory and legal compliance, including screening and comparing data against databases used for crime prevention purposes;
- To provide you with agreed services to assist in meeting your requirements, needs, goals and objectives.

The organisations we may be required to disclose information to include, but are not limited to:

- Our parent company and other companies within the group;
- Financial institutions (including fund managers, financial advisers, stockbrokers);
- Government departments, e.g. Australian Taxation Office (ATO), ASIC and Centrelink, as required by law;
- External service providers and other compliance inspectors for audit purposes;
- External parties for the management of electronic communication;
- External parties contracted to perform services for the Company or on its behalf, such as service providers that provide data and transaction processing, IT maintenance and development and marketing services;
- Affiliated and external product and service providers for whom the Company acts as an agent so that they may provide you with the product or service you seek or in which you have expressed an interest;
- External parties for business acquisitions or in the event of the sale of the business;
- Any person acting on your behalf, including your financial adviser, solicitor, settlement agent, accountant, executor, administrator, trustee, guardian or attorney;
- Any other external party as authorised by you from time to time.

Date: 02/04/2024

Approved by: FBS Oceania Board of Director

Furthermore, we will not use or disclose information collected about you other than for a purpose made known to you unless the disclosure is:

- Required by law (e.g. ATO, Australian Prudential Regulation Authority and ASIC have the power to order us to disclose information about your situation);
- Authorised by law (e.g. to protect our interests or where we have a duty to the public to disclose); or
- You have consented to our disclosing the information.

The Company may disclose personal information when it outsources certain functions, including bulk mailing, market research, direct marketing, statement production, debt recovery and information technology support. The Company may also seek expert help from time to time to improve its systems, products and services.

The Company undertakes not to sell, rent or trade your personal information. We may use the personal information collected from you for the purpose of providing you with direct marketing material such as articles that may be of interest to you, however, you may request not to receive such information by contacting the Privacy Officer as set out below.

4. Cookies

The Company collects the information about you electronically when you visit its websites. This information includes the date and time of visit, number of pages viewed and how you navigate through our website.

Cookies are small files containing information that a website uses to track its visitors. The Company may set and access cookies on your computer, enabling to learn which advertisements and promotions bring users to our website. The Company or any of its affiliates or divisions may use such cookies.

The Company uses cookies to capture data, which helps in the improvement of the service offered and the quality of the content contained on our website.

5. Storage and Security

The Company recognises how important the privacy of your personal information is to you. We will, therefore, at all times, seek to ensure that the personal information collected and held by us is protected from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. Your personal information is generally held in your personal file. Information may also be held in a computer database. All paper files are stored in secure areas. Some of the information used for email communication may be held in third party databases. Computer-based information is protected through the use of access passwords. In the event you cease to be a client of this organisation, any personal information which we hold about you will be maintained in a secure on/ off-site storage facility for a period of at least seven years in order to comply with legislative and professional requirements, following which time the information will be destroyed.

6. Identifiers

The Company will not adopt as our own any identifiers that you may provide to us, such as Tax File Numbers, Centrelink reference numbers, Medicare numbers, etc.

7. Transfer of Information Overseas

This is required either when information is sent directly to the client or to obtain further information from international organisations to aid services provided. Wherever possible, the information will only be transferred to another country where the Company reasonably believes the other country has privacy laws substantially similar to our own.

8. Access Your Information

You may, at any time, request access to your personal information and we will provide you with access to that information either by providing you with copies of the information requested, allowing you to inspect the information requested or providing you with an accurate summary of the information held. We may, prior to providing access in accordance with this policy, require you to provide evidence of your identity. In the event we refuse you access to your personal information, we will provide you with an explanation for that refusal. We will endeavour to respond to any request for access within 30 days depending on the complexity of the information and/or the request and may charge fees for the request of a significant amount of information to be copied or accessed.

9. Quality of the Personal Information

The Company is committed to ensuring that your personal information that we hold is accurate, complete and up-todate.

10. Unsolicited Personal Information

We may receive unsolicited personal information about you. We destroy or de-identify all unsolicited personal information we receive, unless it is relevant to our purposes for collecting personal information. We may retain additional information we receive about you if it is combined with other information we are required or entitled to collect. If we do this, we will retain the information in the same way we hold your other personal information.

11.Data Deletion

Users can request that their data be deleted from a company's privacy policy by exercising their rights under the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs).

Here are the general steps users can take to request data deletion:

- Review the Privacy Policy: Users should first review the privacy policy of the company to understand what data is collected, how it's used, and under what circumstances it can be deleted.
- Users can use this contact information support@fbsaustralia.com to reach out to the company regarding data deletion requests by submitting a formal request, asking for their data to be deleted permanently, or the Right to be forgotten. This means the Company will destroy or de-identify personal information that they no longer require for a lawful business purpose (see the 'Unsolicited personal information' section of this Privacy Policy).
